

Identity Theft

By Christopher Langman

Identity theft is when someone pretends to be you. This can be in the physical world or online.

We need to be careful when and where we share information about ourselves to stop this happening.

Here are some places where thieves can find information:

ID Cards

Drivers licence

Bank card

Letters and statements

Social media sites

Computer (internet browser history, email, downloads and attachments)

Information that you should only share directly with people you trust includes:

NICOLE MARY KIDMAN

Full name

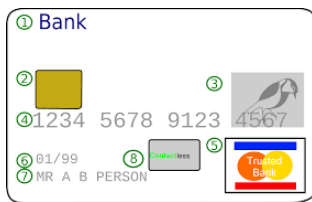

Date of birth/ age

Where you live

Names of family members

Any account numbers

Passwords

Special locations

Special dates

Usernames, contact detail and email address

What could happen if someone stole your identity?

Take money

DEBT

Borrow money or make debt

Take your benefits

Get themselves a new phone contract

Buy things online

Deal drugs

Bully people online

Travel abroad illegally

Things you can do to stay safe:

Shred documents and letters

Keep ID cards, keys, passport + bank cards safe

Ask someone at your door for photo ID

Don't give personal data over the phone

Follow online safety such as @getsafeonline
